Executive Summary

The Uganda National Apiculture Development Organisation (TUNADO) organised the 6th edition of the National Honey Week under the theme - "Transforming Women and Youth from Subsistence to commercial Apiculture". It took place from 25th – 29th August 2015 with a three days grand exhibition at forest mall lugogo. The event attracted 95 exhibitors across the country and over 12,000 patrons.

The main objective was to create awareness amongst the public on how beekeeping can be used to transform the livelihoods of women and youth. Specifically, the honey week :-

- Unlocked the critical role of beekeeping to house hold income
- Demonstrated the possibilities of transforming youth and women from subsistence to commercial apiculture
- Created a business platform for youth and women to showcase, network and market their products and services in apiculture

The event activities were presided over by different officials; the press conference on 25/08/15 was presided over by Hon. Bright Rwamirama, State minister for Animal Industry, The opening (27/08/15) of the three day exhibition was officiated by the Country Director of Oxfam, Mr. Peter Kamalingin and in attendance with him was the country director of ZOA, Mr. Gerald and Country Director SwissContact Uganda Ms Haidara Tania. The closing ceremony on 29/08/15 was officiated by Country Director of Trias, Mr. Paul Allertz accompanied by various officials including Director NARO Rwebitaba, Dr. Robert Kajobe, Project Manager Swiss Contact Uganda, Ms. Carol Assimwe, Principal Entomologist, MAAIF, Ms. Kangave Alice. During the closing ceremony, ToTs, Best Apiary enterprise winners, best exhibitors, all honey week exhibitors and partners were awarded plaques and certificates. The best exhibitor was Bee Natural Uganda and Platinum Sponsor was Oxfam. Unique about the event was youth panel discussion (graced by Ms. Tania Haidara-Country Director SwissContact Uganda) at Kati Kati Lugogo on 27th August 2015 in which over 100 youth participated. There were also various training platform focusing empowering women and youth to make bee hives using locally available materials. A training on standards and international market access was arranged at Africa Agribusiness Academy. TUNADO members also donated honey to Mulago Tuberculosis unit worth Ugx. 3.6M. The event was well appreciated and Bees for Development, Oxfam, Environmental Alert, SNV, Self Help Africa, Swiss Contact Uganda, ZOA, Trias, MAAIF, Agri Pro Focus, The Hunger Project, ICCO-Cooperation plus TUNADO members technically and financially supported the event.

2.0 Background

The concept of the Uganda National Honey week followed a decision by apiculture Multi-Stakeholders Platform (MSP) in 2008 and primary value chain actors' demand to showcase their hive products and raise awareness among the public on importance apiculture in Uganda's agricultural and economic development. TUNADO being the Government recognized body mandated by members and stakeholders was charged with responsibility to organize and coordinate annual Uganda National Honey week together with MAAIF under different themes. To date TUNADO has organized Six consecutive honey week events and has attracted support from a number of development partners, private sector, value Chain actors and numerous members of the public. In 2015 the honey week event was organized under the theme; "Transforming Women and Youth from Subsistence to Commercial Apiculture".

3.0 Rationale

Uganda's population currently stands at 34 million (UBOS 2014) and growing fast and is expected to double over the next 20 years. Of these, over 28 million Ugandans are aged below 30 years and an estimated 8 million of these are aged between 18- 30 years. In Uganda today, Less than 1 in 100 youth and women have been educated to a degree level and majority of them are either jobless (1 of every 5) and about 6 in 10 are self-employed (UBOS 2014). Creating economic opportunities for these active but poor youth and women is therefore necessary for this emerging population growing geometrically that have no access to the kind of economic opportunities that lead to sustainable livelihood and development. Apiculture has in the past and continues to present a huge opportunity to avert the current situation as an alternative source of livelihood for the few women and youth who have taken it up as an enterprise and those that are yet to join the sector in areas of (production, processing and packing and equipment manufacturing). In addition to creating awareness on how beekeeping can transform the livelihoods of active but poor youth and women, This honey week event created the best business and networking platform through which honey value chain actors easily accessed apiculture and market information, business contacts, experience sharing, exposure, consumer feedback, unveiled new hive-products on the market but also had a direct interaction with customers, development partners, relevant government bodies (such as UNBS, MAAIF) and question and answer forum. TUNADO equally availed the necessary technical advice required and any other interested party on how to start an apiculture enterprise along the value chain. There were business to business sessions, direct Q&A to TUNADO staff, development partners and the private sector players which made it a not to miss event.

4.0 Objectives

The main objective of this year's National Honey Week was to create awareness amongst the public on how beekeeping can be used to transform the livelihoods of women and youth. Specifically, the honey week raised awareness on:

- Unlock the critical role of beekeeping to house hold income
- Demonstrate the possibilities of transforming youth and women from subsistence to commercial apiculture
- Create a business platform for youth and women to showcase, network and market their products and services in apiculture

5.0 Honey week arrangement methodology

The National Honey Week organizing committee was led by the TUNADO team charged with volunteer responsibility of planning, promoting, resource mobilization, event delivery, monitor event progress and documenting the event's proceedings. This year's committee was led by Birungi Phionah (Chairperson), Dickson Biryomumaisho (Resource Mobilisation), Sauda Babirye (Finance & Logistics), Jackson Jurua (Protocols), Allon Bomujuni (Coordination) and Sarah Mugoya communication and invitations and Hasipha Nakakaawa was in charge of administration.

5.1 Pre – National Honey Week activities

Breakfast Meeting

This workshop took place on 07/04/15 as a kick-starter of series of activities. It was attended by TUNADO, LWF, MAAIF, SHA and Apitrade Africa. The output was a final 6th national honey week concept.

Regional Workshops

The regional workshops were organised for the purposes of mobilizing and encouraging grass root (processors, packers, associations, business development Consultants, farmers,) participation. Regional workshops were conducted in Lira, Masindi, Arua and Kotido respectively with support from Oxfam and Trias. These contributed heavily to increase in grassroots based beekeeper groups participation in the honey week.

Radio talk-shows

Adverts and educative messages were aired out on Super FM, Capital Radio, KFM, Radio Pacis-Arua, Radio Wa-Lira, Radio West-Mbarara, and Voice of Teso. All these radios ran the adverts in the local languages of the regions. Running adverts on local radio stations are effective in sending messages to a wide range of community members especially and possibly the reason there was great participation of local beekeepers throughout the country.

5.2 Actual National Honey Week proceedings

5.2.1 Press Conference and media campaign

The press conference took place on 25/08/14 at Government Media Center and was officiated by Hon Bright Rwamirama, Minister of Animal Industry. In his speech, Hon. Bright Rwamirama pledged government support and launched the training posters. He further noted that apiculture has a high payoff and fosters economic development and income generation and hence a reason why youth and women should take advantage. He added that Government will ensure Uganda remains on list to export to EU and that soon this will come to reality.

5.2.2 Honey Week Charity Walk and Donation

The charity walk was part of TUNADO's Corporate Social Responsibility (CRS) role and took place on 26th August 2015. Over 100 members marched to Mulago TB unit accompanied with a band and traffic police (provided excellent security and guidance). Commissioner of Entomology MAAIF, Mr. Luyimbazi Fredrick was the chief walker accompanied by Principal Entomologist MAAIF, Ms. Alice Kangave; Chairman TUNADO BOD-Mr. Jurura Jackson and Executive Director TUNADO-Mr. Biryomumaisho Dickson. The Commissioner handed over donations of honey from TUNADO members worth Ugx 3,500,000 (appendix. of those who gave donations). Dr. Susan Adukan of the TB Unit received the donations and she highlighted the medicinal importance of Honey and other hive products that honey is immune booster for cancer patients. On behalf of the Mulago Hospital TB Unit, she thanked TUNADO and her members for this generosity. This attracted the media and two articles were published in the online paper of The Newvision,

5.2.3 Youth Panel Discussion

TUNADO Organised a youth panel discussion on 27th Aug 2015 at Kati Kati and youth tabled issues on how beekeeping can give other youth gainful employment & how to practice beekeeping as a business. A number of hindrances to youth involvement in the sector were also discussed notably: Land ownership & management, and limited number of extension workers specialized in bee keeping who are able to offer practical training and knowledge in the complete honey value chain as a business; most youth live in their childhood family land and setting up new and relatively larger farms is not easy as they don't own personal land. (Detailed report on TUNADO website: www.tunadobees.org). The main panelists were Akoth Martabell-Bee Natural Uganda, Robert Okodia-Aryodi Bee Farm, Patrick Ayebazibwe-Hives Save Lives, and Abanyu Simon-Delta Bees while Mr. Ezaga Patrick led the panel into discussions together. Ms. Tania Haidara, Country Director SCU graced the occasion and encouraged youth to form sustainable apiculture enterprises beginning with forming beekeeper groups.

5.2.4 Honey exhibition

The three day exhibition (displays and tasting of different Ugandan hive products, by-products and beekeeping equipment) climaxed the Honey week at Forest Mall Lugogo from 27th – 29th August 2015. A total of 95 exhibitors (list of exhibitors' appendix...) were present attracting over 12,000 patrons for the three days. Processors and beekeepers were able to showcase their products and interact directly with customers, shoppers and the public. Consumer response cards were also administered to the public on every day of the exhibition by the different volunteers in order to get feedback on the products and general event organization.

Day one of the exhibition 27th August 2015

Exhibition begun and the guest of honour was, Mr. Peter Kamalingin, Oxfam Country Director and other invited and distinguished guests were Country Director of ZOA and Country Director Swiss Contact Uganda. The Guest of Honour toured the stalls with guidance of TUNADO Executive Director Mr. Biryomumaisho Dickson and the Chairman of TUNADO Mr. Jurua Jackson. Thereafter, the Chairperson TUNADO gave background of TUNADO and honey week, invited ZOA Country Director to talk to the crowd who noted that in partnership with TUNADO, Trias and Bees for Development, a training posters in beekeeping and a training video especially for the people who cannot read was developed. He inturn invited and requested the Guest of Honour Mr. Peter Kamalingin, Oxfam Country Director to hand over certificates to Trainers of Trainees and address the crowd. Mr. Peter Kamalingin commended TUNADO for the hard work in organizing such an event and the exhibitors for turning out in big numbers. He noted that Oxfam is one of the many actors that are supporting TUNADO. Apart from honey and beekeeping being very dear to him, he noted that he too is a beekeeper practicing it in Kapchorwa with 45 bee hives. Mr. Kamalingin also said that Youth and Women form majority of people in the country and that Oxfam needs to see committed sustainable youth. He assured everyone that Oxfam pledges continued support to the beekeeping industry because it creates employment for people. He also pointed out that Oxfam is supporting TUNADO to secure a beekeepers' fund with Centenary Bank for the beekeepers to access loans at a subsidized rate. He challenged Government why it is taking long to have an apiculture policy which is critical for providing sector guidance. He then declared the honey show open.

2nd day of exhibition 28th August 2015

Exhibition continued on the second day with a judging exercise. By 9:00 am judges arrived at the venue and included; Mr. Lule Henry (Senior Entomologist), Ms. Alice Kangave (Principal Entomologist MAAIF), Mr. Butele Cosmas (Senior Entomologist MAAIF), Mrs. Margaret Ogaba (Proprietor Jjillima Holdings) and Mr. Joseph Lutaaya (Standards officer UNBS). Score cards (appendix...) were used to award the best exhibitors in different categories. The judging criteria covered customer service skills, product presentation, adherence to codes and certification of standards, and creativity in marketing. The final results in the various selected categories were as follows:

1. Overall winner: Bee Natural Uganda LTD
2. Best Processor and Packer: Bugaari Winery
3. Best Producer Association- Kabale Bugongi Beekeepers Association
4. Best Equipment manufacturer and suppliers – Green and White Enterprises
5. Best Training and extension- Adraa Agricultural College
6. Best Woman Exhibitor- Jephina Honey
7. Best Youth Exhibitor- Kisoro Pure Honey

3rd day of exhibition 29th August 2015

This was the final day and exhibition continued, a presentation was given by the standards officer UNBS on how to attain the certification marks and associated benefits of having certified honey including market access, industry training, and reputation. Exhibitors were provided with a form which to be filled by those ready to get certification and also had all the participants get one of their products and he also tipped packers never to forget to put the following on their product brands. These are:

Name of the product, -Volume or weight of the product, -The name and physical address of the packer, -The product's country of origin, -The batch number and Certification marks such as S or Q seals.

The exhibition ended with a closing ceremony. It was presided over by the Country Director of Trias Mr. Paul Allertz. The guest of Honour had a guided tour of the stalls by the TUNADO Programme officer in charge of Communications. He was accompanied by the Principle Entomologist MAAIF, Director NARO Rwebitaba, TUNADO BOD Chairman, TUNADO ED and other Development partners present. After the tour of the stalls, the communications officer welcomed the Chairman TUNADO to request the Guest of Honour to handover certificates of participation to all the trainers of trainees that were trained from 25th-29th June 2015 in Kabanyolo. The participants received their certificates together with a copy of the National training posters. The Chairman gave a brief speech highlighting the sector challenges, recognized support from development partners, gave outlook for next year and highlights of the 6th national honey week. The Chairman took the opportunity to inform the participants of the support Trias gives to beekeepers in Uganda through TUNADO including a brand new vehicle jointly donated to TUNADO by MIVA and Trias. Ms Alice Kanganve, MAAIF and team leader judging exercise briefed members on how the judging exercise was carried out and thereafter all the exhibitors in the Honey Week were presented with certificates by the Guest of Honour. In his speech, the Guest of Honour thanked TUNADO for the good organisation and giving beekeepers a platform to showcase and market their products. He also requested all development partners to work together in order to have a meaningful impact towards development of the sector. He finally declared the 6th National Honey Week and Exhibition officially closed at 4:50pm.

7.0 Key achievements

Overall, the National Honey Week contributed to TUNADO's strategic objectives for 2012-2017 especially the third strategic objective of high level apiculture promotion.

- Number of exhibitors was maintained at 95 exhibitors
- Learning and innovation platforms were provided to participants on each day
- Business to Business and networking meetings were conducted and contacts exchanged among the value chain actors.
- Increase in the number of sponsors and partners to the event by 3
- Thirty participants filled UNBS forms as a starter process to certify their honey and other hive products.
- Public awareness on the role of beekeeping in transforming the livelihoods of women and youth was made through mass media such as Radios, TVs and newspaper prints where two articles on the honey week theme were published.

8.0 Challenges

- Failure for some partners to honor their financial support pledges on time slowed down some activities especially in the publicity of the event

9.0 Lessons learnt

- Publicity is key for event participation and attendance
- Innovative, learning platforms and presentations were key for exhibitor learning.
- Honey week is ideal for networking. Networking is one of the benefits that all exhibitors appreciated
- Adequate planning and timing were responsible for the success of the event

10.0 Recommendations

- The event should be popularized more to attract many people within the East African Community member states and other neighbouring countries
- There is need for the organizers of the event to think of a much bigger space which is equally accessible to the public given the trend of the ever increasing number of exhibitors

6.03 Response from the exhibitors

During the exhibition, exhibitors gave feedback on the various aspects of the event and below is the analysis and comments from the exhibitors;

- 95% of the exhibitors said that the event met their expectations like selling their products
- Over 85% of the exhibitors said they were able to get business as well as contacts to help them in future. other benefits included business linkages, knowledge sharing platform, customer awareness on the different bee products, knowledge on branding, labeling and certification
- Majority of the exhibitors said the organization was good unlike the previous year where they made few sales because the exhibition venue was not favourable.
- There were specific comments from the exhibitors as stated below;

"This event has been well organized. It is our first time here but we have been able to get contacts and learn from other exhibitors. For sure this is a big achievement on our side. Well done TUNADO!" Katutandike LTD

"Unlike last year where I did not make sales at all, this year has totally become the opposite of last year. Thank you TUNADO for bringing us back to Forest Mall." KITWOBBE

"This is our first time to exhibit in the national honey week event. We underestimated it and came with a few products. Actually, we do not have any honey to sell. it has all been bought yet this is day one. next year we shall be very ready with many of our products. thank you TUNADO" Aida Kuloba Mbale CAP
